Dear Faculty,

Summer is around the corner and with that, many opportunities to enjoy warm weather, sports, travel and other fun activities. Summer is also a suitable time to catch up with professional development opportunities. For summer quarter, we have designed a lighter schedule; the workshops include shorter sessions and a reduced number of class meetings. This would allow you to enjoy both: a well-deserved summer break and a chance to continue learning in this fascinating field of education.

You will notice, we continue to offer some of our regular workshops for faculty who are looking for a refresher course. On the other hand, we are also offering new workshops such as: Introduction to MindsetMaker™, Web Development Fundamentals: A skill for life, and a set of presentations: Living a Disabled Life and Eradicating Bullying by former BC student, Steve Ferreira.

As always, we welcome your ideas to see how we can make Faculty Commons, your space, a greater learning environment.

Happy summer!

Visual Explanations: Making ideas clear and Accessible with Images
Wednesdays, July 6, 13 and 20 from 1:30 - 3:30 p.m. in A109.

The old adage says “a picture is worth a thousand words.” This is especially true on the web where pictures enable viewers to quickly scan and understand information. We are generally taught to communicate with words, but knowing how to communicate with images is now crucial in today’s learning environments.

This series of three, two-hour workshops will teach you:

✓ An introduction to visual communication and information design
✓ How to edit images using free online tools and embed them in Canvas pages
✓ How to convert text-based teaching contents into a “visual explanation”
✓ Basic techniques for making your visual content accessible to sensory diverse viewers based on Quality Matters standards and Universal Design for learning principles.

Register soon for this interactive and fun series!

Web Development Fundamentals
Mondays and Wednesdays, July 11, 13, 18, 20 & 25 in 10:30a.m. – 12:30 p.m. D104E

In today’s world, knowing how the web works and how to create webpages is a skill for life. This ten-hour hands-on workshop is created to teach faculty the fundamentals of Web development, especially HTML and CSS. Faculty have a responsibility to learn skills needed in the workplace and encourage students to do the same. The internet is everywhere and is expanding.

In this workshop, faculty will learn the fundamentals of web development by modifying pages in Canvas. Participants will work on their own course to improve the usability and visual interface. Participants will have the opportunity to compare and contrast their course before and after this workshop. Faculty should feel empowered to encourage students to learn this skill applicable to every field.

You don’t want to miss out on this informative workshop! Space limited to 20 participants.

SOCIAL JUSTICE
Living a Disabled Life
Tuesday, July 12 | 1:30 – 3:00 in D104H

In this presentation, Steve Ferreira, owner of Beyond Disabilities, lets people know what it’s like to live with a disability. He talks about his trauma at birth and how it led to his disability of cerebral palsy. He speaks about his life experience as a small child through his college years and the struggles he encountered. Finally, he describes all the sports he’s been involved with over the years, including his international competitions and the medals he’s received.

This session promises to show how determination, tenacity, and a strong support system can help individuals with disabilities to accomplish great things.

This session is open to All BC employees. No registration needed.

Eradicating Bullying (Second Workshop)

Tuesday, July 26 | 2:30 to 4:00 p.m. in D104H

A 2011 study from the University of Indiana showed 22% of college students reported being cyberbullied while 15% reported traditional bullying. The same study showed 42% of students reported seeing someone bullied by another student, and 8% reported seeing a bully in a situation. In addition almost 15% reported seeing professors bully a student, and 4% reported a professor had bullied them (USA Today College, October 21, 2014). Steve's "Eradicating Bullying" presentation talks about the different types of bullying and why people bully others. He also focuses on the three components of bullying and strategies for eradicating bullying. Steve is very passionate about making a difference in this area.

This presentation is open to All BC community. No registration needed.

Identifying and Challenging Sexism in Higher Education

Face to Face Meetings: Wednesdays, June 29 and August 10 from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. in D104H.

Online Meetings: Wednesdays, July 6, 13, 20, 27, and August 3 (via Canvas)

In the Seattle area, women earn 73 cents for every dollar earned by a man – the worst pay gap in the nation. Nationally, Latina and African American women earn 55 cents and 64 cents respectively for every dollar earned by men. City of Seattle (2014)

What are the historical and current influences that perpetuate such injustices? What role do educational institutions play in it, and how might they be a key role in correcting it? It all begins with awareness! This workshop meets face to face 4 hours during the quarter and has 6 hours of online activities. The primary focus will be to 1.) Develop awareness of male privilege and the impact it has on the gender gap. 2.) Learn about resources that can assist in developing strategies to confront male privilege and sexism in education. 3.) Discover and employ daily actions that can contribute to a more equitable educational setting (such as holding space in conversations).

In-class activities include group discussions, engaging activities, guess speakers, and personal journaling (optional sharing). Online undertakings include watching videos, reading, and having discussions with other participants.

Upon completion of the material, you are eligible to receive a $150 stipend. All work will be due on August 10th to allow for stipend processing. Stipends funded by the Faculty Commons. Limited to 10 participants. Register early, this workshop fills up quickly!

Educational Equity Workshop

Every Tuesday & Thursday, starting on June 28 through August 4 | 1:00 – 4:00 p.m. Location TBD

This workshop is intended for faculty to learn about and implement principles of educational equity and social justice in the classroom and broaden faculty understanding of their own social positions/identities as they affect behaviors in the classroom and relationships with students.

Stipend: $1,000 for all faculty members attending all sessions and upon completion of, and participation in, all portions of the workshop. Stipends are funded by the Office of Equity and Pluralism. Enrollment is limited to 28 participants. All faculty who have not previously taken the Educational Equity Workshop are eligible to take the workshop this quarter. In the event that more than 28 faculty who are eligible to sign up, the faculty who have held tenure for more than 10 years will receive priority.

eLearning Summer Institute 2016

Organized by eLearning and Faculty Commons

Do you teach a web-enhanced, hybrid, or online class? Do you want to learn more about designing an engaging and collaborative online learning environment using Canvas tools?

Join us for our Summer Institute 2016, happening the week immediately following summer quarter! Our talented eLearning Team, in conjunction with Faculty Commons and members of the UDL Cohort, will conduct interactive workshops and presentations on

- Designing multimedia for online presentation: Lectures, Using Copyrighted Images, Accessibility

- Using best practices to design a course for quality student interactions.

Facilitators will demonstrate and share effective examples of design in Canvas in addition to a demonstration of course usability. Stipend $200 for faculty attending both days. A commitment to participate in all workshops and training sessions will be required in order to get paid. Registration is limited to 30 participants.

Breakfast and lunch will be provided. Breakfast will begin at 8 a.m. The first presentation will begin at 9 a.m.

Preparation

Although the workshops and presentations are scheduled in the Computer Lab, we encourage all participants to bring their laptops. All participants will be asked to have their courses mapped before the beginning of Day 2. This is supported by the presentations and workshops in Day 1, so participants will be able to work through the initial process of mapping a course.
