Course Outcomes

Students who complete this course should be able to:

• Demonstrate various invention practices: brainstorming, free writing; outlining, journaling.
• Demonstrate ability to write in various modes: personal narrative, expository, analytical, descriptive, argument.
• Demonstrate the phases of writing: drafting, revising, final copy.
• Explore sources of writing: reading, thinking, analyzing, discussion.
• Create a thesis statement that suggests the focus of the paper, does not point out the obvious, and is written as a sentence.
• Develop and include enough details and examples to support the identified thesis and reinforce focus
• Demonstrate various patterns of organization and use whichever pattern suits the identified purpose and audience.
• Illustrate the concept of audience in your writing.
• Artfully combine audience, purpose, and tone in compositions written in and outside of class.
• Write in a vocabulary appropriate to subject and identified audience.
• Begin and conclude a paper effectively.
• Show effective control of mechanics: paragraphing, punctuation, and spelling.
• Differentiate between key ideas and supporting details in reading.
• Locate the thesis statement in reading assignments.
• Practice good group skills, give useful feedback, and make use of feedback they receive.
• Develop self-assessment skills.

How Outcomes will be met

Your assignments for this class follow the writing process:

A. Pre-writing/Idea Generation
1. Read the texts assigned in our class deeply and thoroughly. If you do not come away from these texts with a new awareness or insight of some sort, you have not engaged with them.
2. Use class discussion as a pre-writing, idea generation activity. Your purpose is to engage with me and your peers in a conversation about our texts that helps further everyone's understanding in some fundamental way.

B. Draft an Argument/Essay
3. Develop your own insight, message or understanding and teach us that new insight, message or understanding in a formal academic essay (rough draft).

C. Solicit Feedback/Provide Feedback
4. Share your essay and provide feedback to your peers on their essays in a peer review exercise. The act of reviewing your peers helps you understand the academic genre and how it is supposed to impact readers. What you learn from reviewing your peers you can then apply to your own essay draft.

D. Revise and Edit

5. Revise and edit your essay. Use the writing lab. Find additional readers who can give you feedback. Listen to the feedback you receive on your rough draft and apply it to your final draft. If you are to become a good academic writer, you cannot be afraid to completely re-view (re-see) your whole argument and write the paper over basically from scratch. If you simply move a few paragraphs or ideas around and change a few words here and there, you are editing, not revising.

6. Submit a Final Essay

Grading

GRADED ASSIGNMENTS:
- Participation: 20%
- Self-evaluation essay: 5%
- Three rough drafts: 15% (5% each)
- Three final drafts: 60% (20% each)

ATTENDANCE: Participation accounts for 20% of your grade for the course.
- Each absence lowers your course grade by two percent
- Missing more than 10 minutes of class is considered an absence
- If I see or hear your phone, iPod, blackberry, etc. in class, I will ask you to leave and/or count you absent
- Assignments, handouts, and announcements will not be repeated
- Late arrivals or early departures need to be made inconspicuously

GRADE SCALE:
- A 94-100%
- A- 90-93%
- B+ 87-89%
- B 84-86%
- B- 80-83%
- C+ 77-79%
- C 74-76%
- C- 70-73%
- D 66-69%
- F 00-65%

GRADE-RELATED POLICIES:
In order to receive a passing grade for this course, you must complete all four formal essays before the last day of class.

Late Work: Assignments submitted after due date will lose 10 percent of their value per 24-hour period that they are late. I will not accept assignments that are more than three days late.

Extra Credit: There will be no extra credit assignments offered for this course.

Dropping a course: If you decide to drop a course, you are responsible for doing the required paperwork online or at the Student Services Center. Should you fail to do so, your name will appear on the final roster and your instructor will be required to assign a grade for you—in most cases, that will be an “F.”
- Through the tenth day of the quarter, the dropped course does not become part of the transcript.
- After the tenth school day and through the end of the seventh week of the quarter, the “W” grade will become part of the student’s transcript record, regardless of grade status at the time.
- No official withdrawal will be permitted after the start of the eighth week of the quarter.

HW (Hardship Withdrawal): HW indicates a withdrawal request made because of extenuating circumstances after the official withdrawal period is over and before the course has ended. The student must proactively contact the instructor to request this withdrawal option, or the faculty member may initiate the contact. Hardship withdrawals are only appropriate when extenuating circumstances (i.e. hardship) prevent the student from completing the course. HWs must be negotiated in advance.

I (Incomplete): An “I” grade indicates that the student has not completed specific prescribed requirements for a course, usually for unforeseen reasons beyond the student’s control. The student is responsible for requesting the assignment of an “I” grade and for demonstrating why the “I” is appropriate. Granting the request and assigning the “I” grade is the prerogative of the instructor. If a student has performed at a passing level during the quarter but for some reason is unable to complete the course requirements, he/she may be assigned an “I” grade at the course instructor’s discretion. Typically an “I” grade is appropriate when a student has successfully completed the entire course minus one required assignment.

In such cases, an “I” will be posted to the transcript when submitted by the instructor with a contractual form, which specifically indicates the work the student must complete to make up the deficiency and the date by which the deficiency must be resolved. Both the instructor and the student must sign the contract. The work for the course must be completed before the end of the next quarter (by the end of the following fall term if the “I” is given in the spring term), and an extension can be granted only with the instructor’s approval. If the student fails to complete the designated assignment(s), an “F” grade will be posted.

Instructor’s Expectations

CLASS PARTICIPATION
You are expected to participate in class discussion, small group activities/discussions, writing workshops, and presentations. Though there is a somewhat subjective element to grading students’ class participation and behavior, this is how I define them in an educational context:

- An “A” student takes leadership roles during group activities, consistently contributes to peers’ learning, is not afraid to ask questions, respects others, always comes to class on time, and treats instructors with respect. Score: 90%-100%

- A “B” student is usually productive in class, willing to help others, respects peers and instructors, usually shows up, and is usually on time. Score: 80%-90%

- A “C” student is passive during classroom activities, doesn’t actively contribute but is responsive when addressed, respects peers and instructors but doesn’t communicate, or is absent or late once or twice a week. Score: 70%-80%

- A “D” student is un-productive in class, tries to make others do all the work, distracts or annoys peers and instructors, degrades himself and/or others, or is frequently absent or late. Score: 65%-70%

- An “F” student is counter-productive in class, tries to manipulate peers or instructors, verbally attacks peers or instructors, engages in any inappropriate behavior, degrades himself and/or others, or is chronically absent or late. Score: 0%-65%

Regarding evaluation: Poor attendance will lower your participation score dramatically. Half-way through the quarter, you will receive a “Mid-Quarter Evaluation” from me, assessing your classroom performance up to that point. Your participation score at that time will be averaged with your participation score for the second half of the quarter to calculate your participation grade for the quarter, a matter of record. If at mid-quarter evaluation, or any other time, you feel you have been unfairly treated by myself or a fellow student, I urge you to proactively approach me about it.

FORMAL ACADEMIC WRITING
There are five things I look for when I am grading your writing. They are:

1. Content. Most importantly, your ideas must be fully developed with vivid, concrete detail. The topic and thesis statement must be significant and clearly expressed. Basically, the paper as a whole should be interesting and substantial. Plagiarized material will earn you a “0” for the assignment in which it is found.

2. Organization. Your essay should be ordered in logical steps, which remind me that your mind is at work behind the essay. The organization of the essay should reveal a sense of symmetry, beginning with an introduction and ending with a conclusion. Your paragraphs should be properly developed (typically 4 to 8 sentences) and should be linked with transitions. Overall, the structure of the essay should be coherent, cohesive, and clear.

3. Expression. Your sentences should be forceful, but not monotonous. Your language should be appropriate (not slang), precise (not vague), and efficient (not wordy). Your tone should complement the subject, distinguish the writer, and define the audience.

4. Mechanics. Use proper grammar. Use proper syntax. Avoid punctuation, spelling, or usage errors.
5. Format. Use 10-point font. Use the standard document design available in your textbook.

As a final note, please remember that your assignments need to be submitted in a professional manner and on time. Late papers lose 10% of their point value for every day late and will be graded at the end of the quarter.

Division Statements

Values Conflicts

Essential to a liberal arts education is an open-minded tolerance for ideas and modes of expression that might conflict with one’s personal values. By being exposed to such ideas or expressions, students are not expected to endorse or adopt them but rather to understand that they are part of the free flow of information upon which higher education depends.

To this end, you may find that class requirements may include engaging certain materials, such as books, films, and art work, which may, in whole or in part, offend you. These materials are equivalent to required texts and are essential to the course content. If you decline to engage the required material by not reading, viewing, or performing material you consider offensive, you will still be required to meet class requirements in order to earn credit. This may require responding to the content of the material, and you may not be able to fully participate in required class discussions, exams, or assignments.

Student Code

“Cheating, stealing and plagiarizing (using the ideas or words of another as one’s own without crediting the source) and inappropriate/disruptive classroom behavior are violations of the Student Code of Conduct at Bellevue College. Examples of unacceptable behavior include, but are not limited to: talking out of turn, arriving late or leaving early without a valid reason, allowing cell phones/pagers to ring, and inappropriate behavior toward the instructor or classmates. The instructor can refer any violation of the Student Code of Conduct to the Vice President of Student Services for possible probation or suspension from Bellevue College. Specific student rights, responsibilities and appeal procedures are listed in the Student Code of Conduct, available in the office of the Vice President of Student Services.” The Student Code, Policy 2050, in its entirety is located at: http://www.bellevuecollege.edu/policies/id-2050/

Please also review the Arts & Humanities division standards and expectations at: http://www.bellevuecollege.edu/artshum/student-information/

All assignments submitted for this course will be scanned using plagiarism detection software. When I receive a plagiarized assignment:

1. I lower your course grade by one full grade (first offense)
2. I assign a course grade of “F” (second offense)
3. I notify the College’s Student Disciplinary Officer (every offense)
